Love animals? Start pet visits with one text today.

Dog walks and drop-ins. No bookings promised. Tiny steps, starting with one text.

DO THESE TODAY

1. Pick your yes: walks, cat visits, or both? Idea: tiny steps build belief.
2. Text three people: "I'm starting pet visits. Know anyone who needs one?" Idea: say it out loud and belief grows.
3. Rover or neighbors first? Rover's review fee is usually $49 to $79, and it says to expect 10 to 20 business days. Short on cash? Try neighbors. Idea: a wait with a plan is progress.
4. Post one ad from the box in one group. Idea: a post is proof you can.

COPY, PASTE, FILL IN WITH YOUR OWN TRUE FACTS

Facebook group Check its ad rules first: "Hi neighbors! I'm _____ near _____. I'm starting dog walks and pet drop-ins. I'm free _____. About me: _____. Happy to meet first. Message me!"

Nextdoor or Craigslist: "Pet visits near _____. Dog walks, cat visits. Free meet and greet first. Days: _____. About me: _____."

SHOULD I SAY YES TO A REPLY?

- ☐ Free meet and greet first?
- ☐ Pet calm, no bite history?
- ☐ Keys and times in writing?
- ☐ Vet and emergency contact?
- ☐ Price clear, no check sent?

One no: pause. Two no's: walk away.

WHAT TO CHARGE: TYPICAL, CHECK YOUR AREA

Rover Jacksonville, Oct 2026: most pet visits are listed at $14 to $28. Look at five sitters near you first. Tiny math: set a $20 price and Rover usually keeps 20 percent, $4. You keep $16. See your share in the app.

STAY SAFE

Meet first in a public place, or bring a friend. Never deposit a check and send money back. Never pay anyone for clients. Never give a client your bank login or Social Security number. Return keys in person. Walk away from a dog that growls or lunges. Rover's guarantee is not insurance and does not cover your injuries. Booked on Rover? Pay on Rover.

Feels too big? Do only step 2. One text is a real start.
